

Cybergaming Consultants make ICEi return

Malta-based one-stop-shop remote gaming experts, Cybergaming Consultants have decided to join London's ICEi remote gaming expo, which runs between 22nd and 24th January 2008, for the second time.

Managing director of the Malta-based company, Anthony Axisa said: „ICEi is the one trade exhibition not to miss. It's grown so much over the past years that people in the industry who choose to attend one event that really matters must visit ICEi. ICEi is for us an opportunity to meet our many esteemed clients and also to be able to meet operators who want to know more about our services and about Malta as a leading licensing jurisdiction.“

Cybergaming Consultants is the brainchild of Axisa – a lawyer by profession and former legal and enforcement director of the Lotteries and Gaming Authority of Malta, who co-authored and drafted Malta's Remote Gaming Regulations – and Michael J. Bianchi, a director of one of the foremost business groups in Malta.

Cybergaming Consultants is a result-oriented consultancy that houses a plethora of remote gaming experts who bring together a wealth of knowledge and experience. To date they have assisted in setting up and continue to service several tier-one operators in the gaming industry.