

Seminar to address Bitcoin phenomenon

London – Bitcoin has been dominating the headlines with the price of a single Bitcoin soaring to USD 1,000 in November. With this in mind and true to its commitment to deal with the key gaming issues of the day, ICE will stage a special seminar dedicated to the phenomenon on Tuesday 4th February (14:00-17:00) South Gallery Rooms 7&8. The seminar, which is being sponsored by SoftSwiss, an Austrian IT company that provides turnkey solutions for eCommerce and iGaming, will provide an in-depth look at the Bitcoin trend, unraveling what it really is, and discussing what regulatory considerations and commercial opportunities it has for gaming.

Jon Matonis, Executive Director, Bitcoin Foundation and a regular contributor to Forbes will be speaking at the Seminar where he will be joined by Erik Voorhees, Founder, SatoshiDice, Ivan Montik, CEO/Founder, Softswiss and Steve Beauregard, Founder & CEO, GoCoin.

Whilst this is a free-to-attend seminar, delegates are advised to register their interest first in order to be sent seminar updates including new speakers, content, and other developments by emailing „silvia.peneva@clarionevents.com“:mailto:silvia.peneva@clarionevents.com

For more information about Bitcoin and iGaming visit „<http://www.icetotallygaming.com/bitcoin-igaming-seminar>“:http://www.icetotallygaming.com/bitcoin-igaming-seminar. To share thoughts and opinions on Bitcoin and iGaming use #ICEgaming